Professor Smart is performed by Todd Victor: physical comedian and juggler with Jest In Time Circus. Since 1980 he has performed live in 10 different countries, and 27 different states throughout the United States at theaters, schools, fairs and festivals for millions of kids.

His fascination with how things work and his love of comedy helps get kids excited about the sciences. He has carefully studied many scientific concepts with the help of many teachers, and scientists. He and his partner Lizette Guy have written and developed this fun science show for young audiences.

Todd grew up in a family of ten on a farm in Connecticut. He left to study Fine Arts in New York City. He went on to study mime, juggling, and physical comedy. He graduated with a Bachelor of Fun Arts from Ringling Brothers Barnum & Bailey Clown College. Todd is a chosen member of Marin's Youth 'n Arts, Performing Arts Roster. He has been an artist/teacher for the William James Prison Arts Project. Todd loves performing, teaching, computers, inventing, juggling, tennis, table tennis, creating one of a kind props for fun-filled shows, and he loves his wife, Lizette.
